A series of “Music Industry 101” workshops for those interested in becoming professional musicians or working in the BC music industry. We encourage all youth and emerging professionals to attend! Four FREE sessions will be facilitated by three Vancouver professional composer/musician/performer/teachers:

Tonye Aganaba, Jaya Story and Robin Layne.

Panelists will present their own histories, training options and tools that might help emerging professionals. This pragmatic approach to the realities of the music industry for young musicians, singers and engineers will include Q&A portions in each session.

March 12, 23 and 25, and April 9 at 4 pm PST
